RESILIENCY PLANNING FOR HUNTERS POINT NORTH, LIC

The Long Island City Coalition/Hunters Point Community Coalition (LICC/HPCC) is pleased to start the process of community-based resiliency planning for the East River waterfront in northern Hunters Point.

For many years, LICC/HPCC has been working in collaboration with other local community groups to develop a vision for a world-class, resilient waterfront. Together we support sustainable development and well-planned growth that benefits both existing and new residents, supports business owners, protects our quality of life and environment, addresses climate change and resiliency, increases social equity, and distributes economic development fairly. LICC/HPCC recently received a grant from Senator Michael N. Gianaris (New York State Senate Deputy Leader) and a pledge of support from Senator Kristen Gonzalez to develop far-sighted, proactive resiliency strategies that will help transform the community's vision into a viable plan.

During this first phase of the project, LICC/HPCC will create a community-based Vision Plan for a more resilient waterfront from Queens West to Queensbridge Park. Over the next eight months, LICC/HPCC invites you to participate in the process and work together with our team of award-winning professionals with experience in the planning and design of sustainable urban waterfronts. In addition to the Community Site Walk on October 15th at 2pm (see over), we will let you know about other public events where you are encouraged to share your thoughts and we will keep you up to date on developments during the project.

Please join us and take advantage of this opportunity to be proactive about the future of this extraordinary waterfront and community!
